

Safe and Healthy Workplaces

Health and safety is everyone's responsibility

The Health and Safety Act in Employment Act 2003 applies to every workplace, employer and employee. It says trained and elected health and safety representatives are key to a safe workplace.

Contact the PSA to find out more about electing health and safety reps and access to training.

Union training on pay is available for elected health and safety reps.

Safe and healthy workplaces make for a better working life.
